Directions for use to achieve pain relief: Adults and children over 2: Apply in a light, thin coat to areas in need of pain relief, not more than 4 times daily. (Consult a doctor before using on children under 12 with arthritis and all children under 2 in need of pain relief)

Directions for best use to achieve quick pain relief:

- Apply thin coats more frequently instead of a large amount at one time
- If pain does not subside within 5 minutes, re-apply immediately
- Apply before activity to warm and relax the muscles
- For a joint, such as a knee, elbow, or wrist, apply Doctor's Pain Formula all the way around the joint, and at least one or two inches above and below the joint.
- For hands or feet, cover the area with Doctor's Pain Formula, and even apply some to the wrist or ankle to ensure full coverage.
- For an area such as the lower back, apply Doctor's Pain Formula in a circular motion to the area of pain, traveling just outside the area to make sure Doctor's Pain Formula gets to the entire area.
- Doctor's Pain Formula usually gives pain relief within just a few minutes. If you don't get relief from your pain within 5 minutes, you should reapply

Remember:

- Children under 12 with arthritis and all children 2 or younger, consult a physician.
- If pregnant or breast-feeding, ask your healthcare professional before use.

Doctor's Pain Formula is designed and is manufactured using many time-tested natural ingredients. It is proprietary blend of 28 ingredients that makes it unique.
